He received the Oskar Pfister Award for excellence in Psychiatry and Spirituality in 2016.

Dr. Lomax's clinical interests are in psychoanalytic treatment of anxiety, mood, and personality disorders. His scholarly interests include the interface between religion, spirituality, and healing from a psychiatric and psychoanalytic perspective; sources of meaning in medicine; and ways to teach, measure, and remediate issues of professionalism in medical education. He received the Oskar Pfister Award for excellence in Psychiatry and Spirituality in 2016 and was a Visiting Professor at Universidade Federal de Juiz de Fora in 2014. He made presentations at the First and Third International Symposium on Spirituality in Clinical Practice in Porto Alegre and Canela Brazil in 2014 and 2018 respectively.

Laura Roberts, MD, MA

Dr. Laura Roberts serves as Chairman and the Katharine Dexter McCormick and Stanley McCormick Memorial Professor in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University School of Medicine. She is an internationally recognized scholar in bioethics, psychiatry, medicine, and medical education and is identified as the foremost psychiatric ethicist in this field. Over two decades, Dr. Roberts has received scientific, peer-reviewed funding from the National Institutes of Health, the Department of Energy, and private foundations to perform empirical studies of modern ethical issues in research, clinical care, and health policy, with a particular focus on vulnerable and special populations. Her work has led to advances in understanding of ethical aspects of physical and mental illness research, societal implications for genetic innovation, the role of stigma in health disparities, the impact of medical student and physician health issues, and optimal approaches to fostering professionalism in medicine. She has written hundreds of peer-reviewed articles and other scholarly works, and she has written or edited many books on professionalism and ethics in medicine, professional development for physicians, and clinical psychiatry. Dr. Roberts serves in several leadership roles at Stanford University and in the Stanford Medicine enterprise and was the first woman to be elected President of the American Association of Chairs of Departments of Psychiatry. Dr. Roberts has served as the Editor-in-Chief, Books for the American Psychiatric Association since 2016 and has been the Editor-in-Chief for the journal Academic Psychiatry since 2002. She serves as an editorial board member and peer reviewer for many scientific and education journals.
